

PUBLIC • PREMIUM

When You Cant Stop Overthinking

Overthinking feels responsible. It feels like: "I'm being thorough." But most overthinking is not analysis. It's avoidance. Because a decision requires risk ...

Abraham of London • 2026-04-27

Overthinking feels responsible.

It feels like:

"I'm being thorough."

But most overthinking is not analysis.

It's avoidance.

Because a decision requires risk and risk requires courage.

So you keep spinning thoughts to delay the moment you have to move.

This week, interrupt the loop:

- pick the next best step
- do it within 24 hours
- accept that you can adjust later

Most decisions aren't forever. They're directional.

You don't need perfect clarity. You need movement.

Overthinking is not your personality. It's a habit.

And you can break habits by acting.