

PUBLIC • PREMIUM

When Youre Living For Weekends

Weekends shouldn't feel like oxygen. If Monday feels like suffocation, that's not "adult life." That's misalignment. block...

Abraham of London • 2026-04-21

Weekends shouldn't feel like oxygen.

If Monday feels like suffocation, that's not "adult life."

That's misalignment.

This week, don't quit everything impulsively.

Do something smarter:

- locate one daily joy (small, consistent, real)
- adjust one boundary at work
- reclaim one hour of your day for your soul

If your whole life is a countdown to Friday, you don't need a vacation.

You need a redesign.

Because your life is not meant to be 5/7 suffering.