The Participant-to-Leader Pipeline

Your success is not measured by how long you lead — but by how many leaders you form.

The Five-Stage Progression

This pipeline is not a ladder for status. It is a framework for stewardship:

character first, competence second, commissioning last.

Role: Fully engaged member building trust and learning rhythms.

Criteria: Zero unexcused absences; taken the Hot Seat at least once; practices confidentiality without exception.

Role: Active contributor offering wisdom and modeling vulnerability.

Criteria: Others seek his counsel; can hold tension without rushing to “fix”; speaks with clarity and restraint.

Role: Learning to facilitate segments under supervision — tone, time, and truth.

Criteria: Can facilitate a full 90-minute meeting competently; handles conflict without panic or domination.

Role: Co-facilitating meetings, onboarding new brothers, and executing decisions.

Criteria: The group functions equally well under his leadership; he protects the standard without becoming harsh.

Role: Ready to take 2–3 brothers and start a new Table of Five.

Commissioning: A formal sendoff ceremony — blessing, accountability, and a clear charter for the new table.

The Leadership Conversation Script

Leader: “I’ve been watching you. I see leadership capacity in you — and I want to develop it with precision. I’d like to train you to facilitate, then to plant your own Table in time. This is a 12–18 month process. What questions do you have — and what would make you hesitate?”

Do not recruit with flattery. Recruit with clarity.

Make the cost visible. Make the standards explicit. Make the end-state noble.

VII. Leader Self-Care

The Oxygen Mask Principle

You cannot pour from an empty cup. Leadership without self-care becomes drift, then burnout, then failure.

Personal prayer/meditation practice — consistent, not occasional.

Sleep and training rhythms — disciplined, not reactive.

Marriage is primary; date nights protected; conflict handled promptly.

Work-life boundaries enforced; integrity kept; pace governed.

This is my stewardship. This is my mandate.
