Canon Household Charter

{ "Civilisations rise or fall on what happens in ordinary homes. This charter template exists so your household is not governed by the loudest mood, but by conscious, written covenant." }

A fillable framework for defining roles, rules, and rhythms for your family.

I. Roles & Stewardships

The Canon insists on clear offices to prevent resentment and ambiguity.

- Head of Household: Responsible for direction, doctrine, and discipline.
- Keeper of the Hearth: Responsible for atmosphere, hospitality, and daily rhythm.
- Sons & Daughters: Responsible for honour, growth, and stewardship of gifts.

1.1 The Role Audit

For each role, define:

- Authority I carry
- Responsibilities I accept
- Limits I will not cross

II. Rhythms & Rituals

Predictable formation beats occasional inspiration. Define your family's heartbeat:

- Daily: Shared meals, evening reviews, or prayer.
- Weekly: The "[Family]/(vault/lexicon/family) Altar"—reviewing the week's finances and schedule.
- Monthly: Deep conversations on purpose and individual progress.
- Annually: A family retreat to review and resign this Charter.

III. Covenant & Signatures

> { "We enter this charter freely, with understanding, and in the fear of the Lord." }

Canon Household Charter

This is the point of accountability. Signing the charter transforms it from a "good idea" into a binding family law. Review and re-sign annually to reflect the growth of the household.

You are not just raising children—you are building a micro-civilisation. Write like it. Live like it.
