

PUBLIC • PREMIUM

When Grace Finds You In The Mess

Some of your lowest moments weren't loud. They were quiet: The day you realised you'd drifted. The day you broke your own standards. The day you didn't recog...

Abraham of London • 2026-04-27

Some of your lowest moments weren't loud.

They were quiet:

The day you realised you'd drifted. The day you broke your own standards. The day you didn't recognise yourself.

If you're in a mess right now:

Stop bargaining.

Stop promising God a new personality just to earn relief.

Just come.

Confess what's real. Name what's broken. Ask for strength.

Grace is not permission to stay the same. It's power to become whole.

And sometimes the most shocking thing God does is not exposing you to destroy you...

but exposing you so He can finally heal you.